LOCATION

Dunfermline, Scotland's ancient capital, was granted official city status in May 2022 as part of the civic honours marking Her Majesty The Queen's Platinum Jubilee. Steeped in history, the city is the final resting place of King Robert the Bruce and boasts a rich heritage reflected in landmarks such as Dunfermline Abbey, Abbot House, and Carnegie's Birthplace Museum. These historic attractions sit comfortably alongside modern developments, most notably the award winning Carnegie Museum and Library, symbolising Dunfermline's seamless blend of past and present.

Ideally situated approximately five miles from the iconic Forth Bridges, Dunfermline is particularly popular with commuters. The city enjoys excellent transport links, with easy access to the M90 motorway providing direct routes to Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee, as well as convenient connections via the Kincardine Bridge to Stirling, Glasgow, and the west of Scotland.

Dunfermline offers a full range of shopping, leisure, and social amenities, complemented by well regarded educational establishments. Two local railway stations provide regular services to Edinburgh, along with intercity connections to destinations across the UK, while frequent local and national bus services further enhance accessibility. Altogether, Dunfermline combines historic significance, modern convenience, and superb connectivity, making it an attractive place to live, work, and visit
